

Surf Coast Times™

14

news

Tuesday 15 March 2011

Jan Juc artist Emma Webb exhibits at Bird Rock Bar, in Jan Juc.

Art on show at the rock

BY ELEANOR WOODS

LOCAL artist Emma Webb brings her colourful canvasses out of the woodwork this month in a public display.

The popular acrylic painter is astounded how easy her journey to success has been.

"I just started and was lucky enough to start selling my work straight away," she said.

"All sorts of different people seem to really like it, which is fantastic."

Jan Juc based Webb has worked as an artist for the last four years and has sold works locally and internationally.

"I can't think of any place I would rather be. To love what you do and live where you love is pretty special and I appreciate every moment of it," she said.

She describes her work as colourful, powerful images of strong women.

"I am inspired by strong faces of strong females," she said.

"I do a lot of manga faces and some nudes and decorative pieces as well."

Manga is an Asian-inspired comic style which translated from Japanese means 'whimsical drawings'.

"People love the style and the pieces are great because with just one canvas you can transform a whole room," Webb said.

"My works can also be tailored to suit you in colour and style."

Join Webb at Bird Rock Bar on Saturday to launch the exhibition, which will be rotated regularly over the next few weeks to showcase her various works until Easter.

"Happy hour is from 5pm until 7pm. So, come down and have a drink and chat and check out the work. It will be very relaxed," Webb said.

For more information visit www.emmawebb.com.au